Smartphones have become a very important part of our life. Many people think that teenagers spend too much time on smartphones. As for me, I agree that teens use smartphones a lot.

Smartphones have advantages and disadvantages. Smartphones help to find information in the internet. They help to do homework and make projects. Smartphones help teens to communicate and exchange photos in the net. Moreover, teens use different apps to learn languages, to study, to listen to music, to learn languages, to download films and watch them. There are people who think that smartphones have disadvantages. They take much time and distract teens from school and studies. Teens may also have health problems. They have problems with eyes, become addicted, they always want to use nervous and aggressive.

More than that teenagers become addicted, they always want to use their smartphones. They play games, watch videos, listen to music. They don't walk with friends and use smartphones a lot.

To sum up, smartphones have pluses and minuses. Teens can't live without smartphones. But teens should use them wisely.

Parents must control this situation. Teens will not have problems. So, everything will be ok.
