Should school holidays be shortened?

Nowadays there has been a lot of debates about whether school holidays should be shorter or not. Although idea, I strongly disagree.

Firstly, students are always put under a lot of <sup>the</sup> pressure - whether it is a homework ~~that~~ forgot to do, or an essay that they failed to write.

Secondly, school holidays cannot be shortened without harming family relationships. Since free school time

It is the only time when children and their parents are able to go on vacation or visit their relatives. It would be difficult to find time for this without holidays.

And ~~Justly~~, Although there are a lot of negative opinions, there are still some positive ones. For example, school holidays should not be shorter because a big amount of students fail their exams and get Fs. It is true, however it has little to do with holidays. A student should just put more effort into learning - That is it.

In conclusion, though some people think that school holidays are not short enough, I disagree with this statement because in this case students will not have enough time for their parents and relatives.
