Task 1. Read the article and choose the most suitable paragraph from the list A-H that best completes the article. There is one extra paragraph which you do not need to use. There is one example.

HOW TO BURN FAT ALL DAY LONG

You eat all the right foods and do plenty of exercise, so why aren't you losing any of that extra weight? Perhaps you need to think about a daily diet and exercise plan which tells you when you should be eating, drinking and exercising in order to burn fat more quickly. 18) C.

After your hot drink, think about an early morning workout. This will help to elevate your energy levels and keep you alert all day long. But wait until your body temperature has risen and give yourself time to wake up. The best time to start exercising is half an hour after you open your eyes. 19)_____.

As you make your way through the first part of your busy schedule, don't forget that mid-working energy boost. Eating just three meals a day makes the body store food as fat. The secret of burning food is to eat little amounts of regular intervals throughout the day. Keep away from unhealthy food like ice cream and chocolate, though! A banana or a kiwi fruit at around eleven will give you all the energy you need. 20)_____.

It is always important to eat lunch earlier rather than later. The later you leave it, the easier it will be to fill up on fast food to satisfy your hunger. Try to plan your lunch menu and choose light carbohydrates and proteins such as tuna or chicken sandwiches accompanied by raw vegetables or fruit. You shouldn't want to eat very much as you have already filled up with water.

Later in the day when you finish work and your body temperature is at its peak is the best time to do some fast, powerful exercise. At this time, your muscles are more flexible and your reflexes are faster than usual, so make the most of it. Go for a run or even a fast walk. Do whatever you enjoy, as long as it gets you moving and burning fat. 22)._____.

If you plan well, this meal can be an important part of your fat-burning day. There are certain foods and spices that will actually help your body to burn up any unwanted calories, such as red peppers, chillies and ginger. These will make your nervous system work faster and raise your body temperature, which in turn will burn more calories. Don't even leave your evening meal too late, though, as you need to give your body time to absorb the food before you sleep. 23)._____.

If you have trouble getting off to sleep, though, don't panic. There are plenty of healthy, low fat alternatives to help you nod off. Why not try a glass of warm skimmed milk, or even a cup of chamomile tea? These natural and low-fat drinks will help you to get to sleep.

A. The next step is to shock up on carbohydrates and liquids. This will help to give you the energy you need to get moving. Try to eat breakfast an hour after exercising so the carbohydrates will be turned into energy and not to be stored as body fat. It's also a good idea to eat plenty of unprocessed carbohydrates such as fruit, yogurt and rye bread.

B. Now, by mid afternoon, you will find that your stress levels are on the rise again. That means that you are in need of fuel to keep you going through the rest of the afternoon. A small sweet snack would be the perfect choice. Try dried fruit, a banana or some fruit yogurt.

C. Try to start the day with a cup of green tea. Green tea wakes you up and gets you ready for your hectic day ahead. You will feel upbeat and active and at the same time your metabolism will be off to a good start, burning up those extra calories.

D. It makes sense if you become a calorie counter. Always read the back of packets and cans so that you know exactly what you are eating and what you are likely to gain from it.

E. So, eat regularly, drink lots of water, keep active, relax and sleep well. You too will be well on the way to a fat-burning routine that will keep you healthy and slim.

F. Instead of sitting down in front of the TV for those last few hours of your busy day, why not try a few deep breathing relaxation techniques. This will guarantee that your body is calm and ready for that deep sleep that you need to get a ready for the next day.

G. The next step is the evening meal. It is important to eat an hour so after you evening workout. This will replace some of the energy you have lost so that you will be able to get up and get going again the next day.

H. At around noon it's vital to drink lots of water. Water will help to take the edge off your appetite as it will fill you up. Experts recommend drinking cold water, as your body will have to use up calories just to warm it up!

A creative mind

- + "What hath God wrought?" were the famous words 45 happily (HAPPY) exclaimed by Samuel F.B. Morse during the
- + 46 impressive (IMPRESS) demonstration of the telegraph system in Washington on May 24, 1844. This very well known inventor was born on April 27, 1791 in the USA. His father, J. Morse, a devoutly
- + 47 religious (RELIGION) man, believed that a good education was an essential part of a(n) 48 successful (SUCCESS) life. Thanks to Jedidiah's belief, Samuel Morse attended Phillips Academy in Massachusetts and
- then later Yale College. At the latter, the young Morse took up 49 studying (STUDY) in both philosophy and mathematics. It was also during this time that he had the opportunity to hear Benjamin Silliman's lectures.

Samuel Morse was a skilled portrait 50 painter (PAINT) in addition to being an inventor. However, he was 51 satisfied (SATISFY) with earning his living in this way and spent much of his free time conducting research with his brother. In 1817, the two brothers completed 52 applying (APPLY) for patents for three pumps they had designed. They won the patents and Morse's hunger for 53 experiments (EXPERIMENT) grew. By 1832, Morse's interest had turned to telegraphy and within three years, he had designed plans for a simple relay system. Over the next decade, Morse created a(n) 54 electrical (ELECTICITY) telegraph and completed the work that earned him the title "Father of the Telegraph".

WRITING

55. Some people think that environmental problems are too big for individuals to solve, while others think that the government cannot solve these environmental problems unless individuals make some action.

I think that the government can't solve environmental problems if individuals don't make any actions.

In my opinion, big changes start from small things. You can't change everything everywhere all at once, so great results from changes can be reached by using step-by-step strategy. In the case being discussed these small steps are usual citizens' actions. We can't get rid of dumpsters without every single person understanding how a small plastic bottle being thrown on a road slowly but surely affects ecology.

From the other hand, great changes can't be done without government's help either. ~~A fine~~ A fine that a person gets because of leaving their trash after a picnic won't be a big deal for some people. We need to change people's mindset, let them understand why they shouldn't do such things. And it's a big problem that can't be solved by couple of dozens of activists. I think the government needs to get involved here, too.

To sum up, my point of view is that environmental problems should be solved by both individuals and the government.
