Task 5

There is a high dispute over whether or not social media has more negative effects than positive ones on teenagers. People's views strongly differ on this particular matter. Personally, I disagree with the statement given. In my view, social media is ~~more~~ profitable for young people despite having its obvious disadvantages.

On the one hand, social media has poor effects on children. It presents violent and vulgar content, promotes different ^{events} ~~ideas~~ political ^{positions} ideas and religious ideology. For example, social media actively presents the idea that Islam is a better religion than Christianity, which is totally absurd. I am definitely against that way of thinking, however, ~~the~~ social media highly promotes ~~the~~ such type of content.

On the other hand, I truly believe it is more wise to look at the bright side of the invention. Social media presents numerous possibilities for future ~~career~~ career development such as advertising one's business or finding a suitable company to work at. Teenagers might also search for an educational institution ~~that~~ they would like to enroll in. Moreover, social media is a perfect assistant in communication with one's friends or relatives.

To sum up, despite the fact that social media has its negative aspects, my opinion is that social media's advantages completely outweigh its disadvantages. Provided it is used for positive deeds, social media is a wonderful tool for teenagers.
